

First Grade: Social Studies

Students will explore family units to determine how they function. They will compare life from long ago to today. Also, they will apply map skills to a variety of locations.

- Students will explore families to determine their function.
- Students will compare life from long ago to today.
- Students will apply map skills to a variety of situations. They will identify natural resources and connect them to our daily lives.
- Students will explain the contributions of special Americans