Reading Workshop

- ❖ We finished our Pegasus book, Happy Birthday Grampie.
- ❖ During guided reading the past two weeks, the students have read and done activities with The Night Before Christmas, Merry Christmas Amelia Bedelia, or Catching Santa.

Writing Workshop

- To go along with Happy Birthday, Grampie, we learned about Braille. The students wrote their name using split peas as the bumps. They also had a chance to feel a Reader's Digest in Braille.
- Many students kept the Braille alphabet in their writing folder to use during choice writing time.

Math (Mrs. Berwick's Class)

- ✓ We worked on problem solving with addition and subtraction with regroup
- ✓ Almost everyone passed their addition all facts.
- ✓ After break we will be beginning subtraction fact test.

Science/Social Studies

This week during science and social studies time we did many holiday activities. I hope you like the wonderful present your child made for you.

Reminders...

- ❑ There will not be a reading record over break to turn in when the students return. They will get a reading record on the Monday they return.
- ❑ Classes resume on Monday, January 9.
- ❑ February lunch orders were sent home today. They are due on Monday, January 9.

Happenings...

Today I played Hangman with the class. The message was "Mrs. Berwick is going to have a baby!". We are very excited for the arrival this July of our third child. Maggie, my almost 4 year old, has named the baby "Baby Jojo". Don't know where it came from, but we are going with it. We like surprises so we will not be finding out what we are having. It was so fun to see the surprise and excitement in the students faces.

Happy Holidays!
