

WriteStuff

September 2011 -- First through Fourth Graders

Due date: Friday, September 23

Here are two writing prompts for the September WriteStuff. Read the prompts, choose the one you can write about best, compose an essay using a pencil or computer, attach the essay to this form, and return it to your teacher by Friday, September 23. That's how you become a Pleasantdale WriteStuff winner.

Feel free to draw a picture or include a photo that goes along with your writing by attaching it with your essay. Remember to have a parent or guardian sign the form.

Topic 1 –My Super Summer

Did you and your family participate in any fun activities this summer? If you did, share them in a story or essay. If not, dream up your ultimate summer and tell us how the summer would have gone if it were up to you!

Write about a real summer memory or describe your dream summer. You might tell about:

- Learning to do something new
- Traveling to a new and exciting place
- Enjoying playing with old or new friends

Topic 2 –Teacher for a Day

Back to school means new books, new friends and new teachers! What if you were the teacher this year? What would you do the first day of school? What subjects would you teach? To what specials would you take your class? What would you give for homework?

Write about one or more things you enjoy about elementary school and don't forget to include:

- A lot of descriptive words and details
- How your plan would make your "students" feel
